Cooperative Spirit Boosts Float Work

Post Office Sets Yule Record

The Sierra Madre Post Office broke all existing records for postal receipts and mail cancellations during the Christmas season just being concluded. Postmaster Charles E. Louk announced yesterday.

Postal receipts for December, ending with the 21st, showed an increase over last year of 13.04 per cent.

For the period that is actually considered the time when most of the Christmas mailing is done, from the 9th of December through the 21st, the increase was a phenomenal 21.3 per cent over a corresponding period of last year, stated Louk.

The number of pieces of mail cancelled from Dec. 9 through the 22nd, though not showing the spectacular jump of the receipts, nevertheless indicated a steady increase of 9.8 per cent over the same period last year. There were more than 400,000 pieces of mail cancelled.

Every piece of mail that has been received by the Post Office for Christmas delivery had been delivered by Christmas Day, said Louk.

On behalf of the postal employees, Louk thanked all the patrons of the Sierra Madre Post Office for the "wonderful cooperation exhibited during the past season."

Clubs To Supply Food

Expressions of confidence in the spirit of cooperation among the residents of Sierra Madre were justified, it is apparent, as the city's Tournament of Roses float nears completion at the city yards.

The schedule for volunteers who will paste flowers on the float is filling rapidly, according to Mrs. Ruth Barden, president of the Civic Club which is arranging the schedule.

Also signing up are organizations whose members will provide food for the volunteers.

HEADING THE food committee is Mrs. Edward E. Riggins, who said that organizations contacted responded without hesitation, a spirit repeatedly noted by all committee members.

"On Tuesday morning, the Woman's Club will provide sweet rolls. Coffee will be served by Civic Club members."

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary and the FTA Executive Board are supplying sandwiches. Lady Lions and Eastern Star members are bringing up cakes. A plentiful supply of apples is being donated by the VFW.

Volunteers will work in three-hour shifts, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Tuesday. One shift will start the job Monday evening, from 7 to 10 o'clock.

VOLUNTEERS may contact Mrs. Carl Cheadle, ELgin 5-7882; Mrs. Wayne Goldie, ELgin 5-7305, or Mrs. Lowell Cocke, ELgin 5-6469.

With less than $1,500, Sierra Madrans have plunged into construction of a float in competition with professionals, and others with much larger budgets. The float is one of very few built entirely as a community project, and with unpaid help. Funds are used for construction materials and flowers.

Mayor Charles James, who pushed the idea for the float, stating there was considerable sentiment for a parade entry, was justified, Col. Walter Thurber, general chairman of the committee, pointed out, as was Councilman Harold Roberts, who said that the spirit of community enterprise is the important factor.

"YOUNG AMERICA DREAMS" is the title of the float, in keeping with the Tournament theme, "Day Dreams in Flowers."

Awarded tickets for the Rose Bowl game, for producing the float design, were Sierra Madre artists Bernard Wynne and Ted Velasquez.

Teenagers receiving tickets to the Coronation Ball for selling the most roses to raise funds for the float were Muriel Peterson and Pat Stetson.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Charles H. Fretz, 532 W. Grand View, Sierra Madre, South Los Angeles division sales manager for Schering Corp., attended a week-long sales management conference sponsored by the company at the Boca Raton Hotel, Boca Raton, Fla.

Stolen Creche Figures Replaced at Church

An anonymous "friend of the church" has replaced the figures of Mary and Joseph which were stolen from the outdoor Christmas display of Faith Lutheran Church, 835 Hastings Ranch Drive.

Vandals tore the original figures from their mountings, but left the figure of the Baby Jesus in the crib in the niche constructed by church committee members.

"This act, occurring during the first night of our display, proved very disappointing to us," said Marcus Silvera, a member of the committee.

LAST THURSDAY, after the story of the theft had appeared in The Sierra Madre News, a person who would identify herself only as a non-member friend of the church, called Rev. Hesse for further information concerning the loss.

The next day a delivery truck brought new figures of Joseph and Mary, plus a lamb for the display, with a receipt marked "Paid in Full."

Commenting on the act of generosity, Rev. Hesse said at Sunday School services:

"It often appears that evil dominates; but all that our Lord has to do is warm one heart with Christian love and it will outdo the evil that has been done."

Mrs. Lena Graf, 40-Year Resident, Succumbs at Home

Mrs. Lena Graf, 355 E. Grand View, died in her home Dec. 22 following a lengthy illness. She was a resident of Sierra Madre for the past 40 years.

A native of Germany, Mrs. Graf came to the United States and California in 1904. She was a member of St. Rita's Guild.

Survivors are her husband, Carl Graf, Sierra Madre; five sisters, Mrs. Anna Schultz, Playa del Rey; Mrs. Marie Hayn, El Sereno; Mrs. Francis Fricker, Sunland, and Mrs. Katherine Herbst, and Mrs. Bernice Herbst, both of Sunland, and one brother, DR. JOHN A. GERALT is the latest addition to the staff of the Sierra Madre Hospital. A native of Detroit, he specializes in obstetrics and gynecological medicine. He and his wife, Rosaline, recently purchased a new home at 605 N. Hermosa.

Another Recruit For 4th Estate

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Thomas, former Sierra Madrans, welcomed their second son last Thursday at the new Methodist Hospital in Arcadia.

The new arrival is Peter Matthew. Mr. Thomas, former editor of The News now living in Arcadia, is on the staff of the Los Angeles Mirror News. They have another son, Michael.

Martin Schumann, Hollywood.

Recitation of the Rosary and Requiem Mass were both held in St. Rita's Church on Monday and Tuesday.

Roberts Market Wins Silver Cup

Roberts Market has been awarded a silver cup by the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce for its Christmas decorations.

Second and third prizes in the decorating contest for local merchants were won by Richard Vectors and Youngland's Department Store.

The prizes were awarded to the stores whose decorations best typified the spirit of Christmas.

Council Will Study Trash Pickup Fees

An amendment to the refuse collection ordinance which would require everybody in Sierra Madre with an active water meter to pay the rubbish service fee will be discussed by the City Council at its meeting tonight (Thursday).

The amendment, if adopted, would strike about 300 Sierra Madrans from the collection fee exemption roles.

Expected to be adopted is an amendment to the rabies inoculation ordinance for dogs. The amendment would lower the age for dog inoculations from 6 to 4 months, as required by state law.

Councilmen also will discuss the best ways to clear the water spreading grounds north of E. Sierra Madre Blvd. of the refuse and dirt that has been piled there. Several residents recently protested against the use of the area as a dump site.

Kennedy, Schmidt Win Tennis Cup

The round robin open doubles tournament of the Sierra Madre Tennis Club, interrupted for three weeks by the back injury of Paul Kennedy, one of the contestants, on Dec. 1, was finished last Sunday, Dec. 22.

The winners were Kennedy and Ricky Schmidt by scores of 8-6, 4-6, 6-1. Runners-up were Nancy Owen and Henry Greger.

Winners Announced In Christmas Contest

Winners in the home decorating contests for Sierra Madre and Hastings Ranch were announced yesterday.

Judges in the Sierra Madre contest, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, awarded $25 merchandise prizes to the first place winners in each of four districts and ribbons to second and third place winners.

The merchandise prizes may be obtained at any store in Sierra Madre.

DISTRICT 1 winners are H. T. Goodfellow, 585 Ramona, first; T. R. Chrysler, 264 Mariposa, second, and D. J. Colbert, 329 W. Highland, third.

District 2 winners are Mrs. Severin Sorenson, 233 E. Orange Grove; B. L. Menne, 178 S. Holman, and F. R. Parks, 250 S. Mountain Trail. District 3: Ray Kinneson, 2025 Lilliano Dr.; C. S. Bigelow, 1980 Vista, and Sid Brown, 68 E. Alegria. District 4: T. E. Damme, 705 Edgeview; L. O. Beam, 420 N. Lima, and J. B. Thompson, 444 N. Lima.

THE HASTINGS RANCH contest, sponsored by the Upper Hastings Ranch Property Owners Association, was divided into six categories, plus zone prizes and a sweepstakes award.

Prizes were donated by 26 area businesses. Judges were Don Wood, vice mayor of Pasadena; Charles H. James, mayor of Sierra Madre, and David Giffen, garden editor of the Pasadena Independent Star-News.

The sweepstakes was won by H. B. Myers Jr., 3695 Denair.

Zone prizes went to Pepperhill Rd., decorated as "Melody Lane," and to Denair, "Candle Light Lane."

PRIZES AWARDED in the six categories follow:

Most Humorous: J. B. Andrews, 1145 Medford; W. J. Newton, 965 Pepperhill, and D. F. Giangregorio, 990 Pepperhill.

Best Use of Lights: George Krotz, 1195 Rexford; R. R. Box, 1100 Coronet; T. B. Paul, 1105 Pine Bluff.

Most Original: William Lawson, 1220 Rexford; E. D. Eley, 1100 Valley View; A. C. Gabriel, 1290 Tropical.

Most Beautiful: William

Our Cup Runneth Over

About once a year many of us pause for a few minutes' contemplation and to count our blessings.

Our blessings are many and varied, but one of the greatest is the fact that we live in Sierra Madre. This may sound like a small-town approach and, to the cynical or ultra sophisticated, may smack of a hickish brand of chauvinism.

Nevertheless, I think it's true. And surprisingly most everybody who lives in Sierra Madre would agree.

OUR MOST obvious blessing, of course, is geographical. We are blessed by a kind sun and lately even the smog has stayed its hand.

We are off the beaten path and consequently the press of traffic isn't suffocating us.

We, as individuals, have had nothing to do with the blessing of geography, except that we happened to move here or (a few of us) were born here.

But we have had a great deal to do with another blessing that typifies Sierra Madre—our community spirit.

DESPITE the advent of the atomic age, the smashing din of a million cars, the increasing trend toward conformity, we in Sierra Madre have managed to retain our identity as a community.

The people here are all individuals. We argue and fight about everything from complicated philosophical problems dealing with religion in the public schools to the erection of a stop sign in a public street.

This is good. Hiding problems or refusing to face the unpleasant facts has never solved anything. Not many important issues are hidden in Sierra Madre.

Yet despite our controversies, we have still been able to put aside our differences and pull together when the occasion demanded. Our community spirit here sticks out a mile.

FOR EXAMPLE:

We are going to have a float in the Rose Parade this year, possibly the only one put together by volunteer labor in the whole shebang. It's a safe bet, too, that our float will cost less than any other in the entire parade.

We will have a float because a lot of people decided to get together and build one. There isn't room to mention everybody who helped make this project a success, but the lion's share of credit must go to Col. Walter Thurber who, as general chairman, got the float committees moving and working at an amazing pace.

Other events manned and pushed by volunteers, by our community spirit, are infinite in number. We've had a Diamond Jubilee, a Good Neighbor Dinner, community breakfasts and Thanksgiving Day church services in the City Park.

In 1953, more than 1,000 Sierra Madreans of all faiths fell on their knees in the City Park and gave thanks to God that we were spared in the "Great Fire" of that year.

YES, OUR cup runneth over here and at times we may even get a little intoxicated. But community spirit is a valuable commodity. It's a commodity we may rightly feel proud of, one we should jealously guard against the encroachments of a mechanized age.—H.W.E.

Action on Missile Program Faces Congress Jan. 7

By Edgar W. Hiestand, Rep., 21st District

We pause at this religious season to give thanks that ours is a nation where man may worship as he chooses, where he may speak and publish his beliefs, and, in short, where he may guide his own destinies with God's help.

That ours is a nation under God becomes even more significant today in the light of the international struggle for scientific supremacy between the people of the free world and the godless dictators of the Communist state.

As I travel throughout our congressional district I am finding renewed confidence among our peoples that from temporary shocks and setbacks will come the strength by which we can fashion the ultimate peace.

RUSSIAN SPENDING—America has been forced to accept Soviet satellites passing overhead every 90 minutes or so. We have seen our own test of the Vanguard project fail. What action will Congress take on the satellite and missile programs when it gets back to Washington on Jan. 7?

This is a common question and of course all present forecasts envision greater spending and defense and possible cutbacks in desirable, but not essential, domestic programs.

The question raises another question; namely, how much have the Sputniks cost Russia?

It's doubtful that even the Kremlin leaders know accurately. Economists here who try to fathom the Russian budget say that much of it is sheer invention, as well as bad bookkeeping.

There is no accurate way to translate rubles into dollars. Based on Soviet consumption habits, a ruble in 1955 was worth not more than 10½ cents, contrasted with a purchasing power of not more than 7 cents based on United States consumption habits.

The total Russian budget is $64.6 billion rubles, or by these admittedly inaccurate barometers somewhere between $63.5 billion and $42.3 billion in American money. Total U.S. spending is about $67 billion.

Whereas the U.S. budget includes about $38 billion for defense, the Russian budget sets aside only $6.7 billion rubles, or between $10.2 billion and $6.8 billion in American money.

THESE FIGURES are of course ridiculous because the Soviets hide their defense expenditures under such categories as education, science, social service, industry and construction, and these categories are not broken down. By hiding the real figures the Kremlin achieves the propaganda advantage that Russia is engaged in "peaceful production" as well as defying free world attempts to get these figures.

But the point of this is that the Russian people are paying a fearful price for their technological advancements. The average peasant's standard of living has improved not at all since the Bolshevik seizure of the state 40 years ago. Bread costs 33 times what it did at the end of World War II. A Russian worker must work 62 hours and 20 minutes to earn enough to buy a pair of leather shoes. A Moscow resident has only about 50 square feet of living space in a home.

These are the sacrifices that have produced the Sputniks, and they are considerations that Congress will make when it balances next year's dollars between what we would like to have and what we must have.

The choice will not be easy, particularly under fire from well entrenched pressure groups who prey on the Congress and the American people, but it is inevitable in the year ahead.

Jo and Howard Whalen are putting another potato in the stew—what with the influx of holiday company. Bob Cromie, Chicago reporter and long-time friend, is visiting the Whalens and Henry Whalen, while here to cover the New Year's Game and Parade for the Chicago Tribune. Newspaperman Cromie and his wife, Alice, collaborated on an article just published in Reader's Digest.

The Whalens are also welcoming their sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gow and son, Mike, who are driving out from Detroit.

THE WRONG ISSUE—Watching President Eisenhower depart for the NATO meeting in Paris was depressing. The old man may be feeling "like a caged lion," in the words of Vice President Nixon, determined to show the world he's just as good as ever. But his drawn face reflects all the physical pain and anguish through which he has gone in the past few weeks.

Ever since he suffered his stroke it has been apparent that the President has become determined to push himself harder than ever. Driving back and forth to Gettysburg, attending a Cabinet meeting, and spending several hours with the congressional leaders—all this activity was not simply part of the Jim Haggerty plan to show that Ike was able to carry on.

The President wanted this impression created, from all I have been able to learn, because he was understandably annoyed at suggestions that he had reached the end of the line. No man wants to admit that he might be close to death and the President is no different from anyone else.

ALL THIS running around, especially flying in mid-winter to Paris, raises a question that has bothered me for some time: Must the President kill himself in order to prove to his critics that he is not a "part-time" President? That, I fear, is exactly what he is doing.

As a political issue it has often seemed to me ill-advised for the Democrats to speak of the "part-time" President. Not only can it backfire on Ike's critics, if he should die in action, but it's a misleading argument to begin with. Eisenhower is not a slacker or a loafer or a good-time Charley. He is an earnest, patriotic man with an almost child-like idea of what the Presidency is and how the government works.

How many hours does Ike spend at his desk compared to the number of hours he spends elsewhere? Some critics may think that's a smart question. I don't think it's even a legitimate political argument. I know any number of executives who pace the floor of their office, shout orders, and belittle

SANTA CLAUS came in under a tent flap at the Bob and Mary Renee home. The Renecs (he's a teacher and director at Pasadena Playhouse) are putting a living room where the garage used to be, building a fireplace, family room and car port, and praying it doesn't rain.

AND THEN there was the local martyr who dramatically announced at dinner: "Don't give me any more vitamins—I'm trying to commit suicide."

HUZZAH! for the Family Party—where once a year three dozen people squeeze into a five-room house to exchange "white elephants" while the kiddies joyously scream from room to room as they charge through the scalloped potatoes.

Wouldn't miss it for the world!

AS MY TRAIN would not leave until 11:30 that morning, I took a bus from the station out to the site of the five ruins of the ancient Greek temples of Castor and Pollux, Juno, Jupiter, Hercules and Concordia (to use their more familiar Latin names—the last often mistaken, in photos, to be the Parthenon in Athens, which it somewhat resembles).

Standing on a high ridge covered with lush grass and a profusion of spring wild flowers, the ruins look out over a vast plain, from which they must have been visible for 50 miles in that clear sparkling air.

A mile to my right I could see shining in the morning sun the tiny white stone cabin where, Signor X had told me, was born, in 1867, his friend, the illustrious Luigi Pirandello, dramatist, novelist, writer of short stories (300 of them!) and winner of the Nobel Prize in 1934.

His mother, expecting the birth of her baby and made nervous by a prevalent series of earthquakes, common to the city of Girgenti, had gone out of town to their little piece of land in the safer countryside to have her son.

THE TRAIN journey that day through the heart of Sicily was a constant panorama of open country, of valleys, hills, mountains, their subordinates. Yet they came up with the wrong answers every time. Wisdom is not proportionate to the amount of wind a man can stir up.

THE MESS WE'RE IN—Our difficulty today has very little to do with a "part-time" Presidency. The real trouble has been full-time errors in policy and judgment. Whether it has been "tight money" or foreign policy, the entire approach of this Administration has been in terms of dollars rather than human needs. We dawdled during the polio vaccine crisis; we are drifting now in the race with Russia.

As an example of what I mean, take the case of Secretary Dulles. Can anyone say he has been a "part-time" minister of foreign affairs? Of course not. There hasn't been a busier man in that post in years, nor one who has traveled more. But Dulles thinks primarily as a Wall St. lawyer, making "deals" here and staking out spheres of economic interest there.

THE REPUBLICANS have become prisoners of their own dogmas. The important question is not so much whether the President is at the White House or at the Augusta golf club. The real point is that even when he has been at his desk, he has not really grasped the reins. He came into office at a moment when the public yearned for good-will, good times and general relaxation from years of crisis.

The Republicans campaigned in 1952 on a platform of "no sacrifice" and "don't rock the boat." We can bring the boys home, they promised, and roll back the Russians. We can give you more defense for less money, cut your taxes, keep employment high and retain the peace.

Today they cry for more defense spending, taxes remain high, unemployment is over 3,000,000, and the peace is uneasy.

The failure is not that of a "part-time President," but of a sudden national realization that the campaign slogans of 1952 and 1956 were impossible from the very beginning.

Sunshine, Warm Hotel Sought in Taormina

By Edward Lloyd Voorhees

Having completed, here in Girgenti, the final one of my four errands in Italy, and my customary vitality being now worn down to a state of habitual tiredness by a month-old chest cold, stubborn cough and loss of appetite, I decided to cut short my seacoast circular trip around the Island.

So I turned in my ticket and bought another from Girgenti straight across to Catania, thus cutting off a full quarter of the Island, including its greatest city of ancient times, Syracuse, which I had visited on my first trip, in 1926. I was confident that at Taormina I would find the maximum of sunshine, a warm hotel room, and a rest.

At length we arrived at Catania, the busiest and noisiest times in its long history destroyed by eruptions of Etna, and passed on along the seashore to Giardini, the port and railway station for Taormina, 500 feet above.

PRAISES BOARD

Dear Sir:
I feel certain that I reflect the community spirit when I express my admiration for the way the Sierra Madre School Board handled the released time religious issue. Regardless of our individual feelings about the question involved, I am sure all of us are proud of the wise manner in which our School Board arrived at the answer.

ANSWERS CAVALLI

Dear Sir:
This is an answer to Mr. Cavalli, secretary of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce (12/12/57). I hope it gets the same degree of editorial prominence.

Mr. Cavalli speaks, I feel, not only for the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, but in a sort of . . . justification of his lifetime spent in various Chambers of Commerce promotional activities in California—a state whose rapid population growth in great part has been due to these promotional efforts. Ask yourselves, fellow homeowners, taxpayers—do we at present need more growth promotional effort—or a bit of time to digest what we have already bitten off?

I speak as a home-owner, and a mother—the home and mother thesis being the same wide-brush Mr. Cavalli used in combining the Chamber of Commerce with the churches. I feel that the institution of "motherhood" as explained to us at least once a year—commercially supported by all Chambers of Commerce—might, in virtue, balance the church comparison used in the 12/12/57 editorial, and give me entree in this discussion which is primarily a sordid money discussion between the home-owner—taxpayer and the Chamber of Commerce composed of approximately 100 members.

The Chamber and the churches have only one similarity anyway—both are tax-exempt—otherwise the Chamber of Commerce is a non-profit corporation, while the churches are ecclesiastical corporations, both qualifying, by definition, under the law.

But whatever guise of incorporation—or group-title the various institutions are known to the public, the Chamber of Commerce (in Sierra Madre) is the only group that annually, at budget time, presents itself—not to ask, but, by pressure, to demand a tax-paid subsidy of the City Council to preserve itself—a tax of the many for the preservation of the few. Check the membership and you quickly learn which few.

None of the churches do this, nor other Sierra Madre registered non-profit corporations—say the Sierra Madre Woman's Club—which could all make out a very good case for themselves as to their need in the city. Nor does any other corporation or institution ask for special additional money—costing services from city employees and city equipment (transportation mostly) during each budget year.

The home-owner—taxpayer foots the bill for this also, and diversions of services take place to the detriment of these same home-owner—taxpayers, because of the centrally located, interest-knit membership of the Chamber of Commerce.

So, the Chamber—meaning the approximately 100 members—through its secretary, rails at those who feed it; put on "support your city" programs. Both imply a criticism of those they are trying to reach, and who can only be reached through good will and individual service (of the approximate 100 members of the Chamber of Commerce, not the secretary).

Sincerely,
GRACE R. VANE,
220 E. Sierra Madre Blvd.

BIBLE STUDY

Dear Editor:
In your Dec. 5 editorial you ask, "Is released-time religion worthwhile?"

In answer may I state two facts? If you consider a knowledge of the Bible a necessity to the upbuilding of character, this may partly answer your question.

I have been a Sunday School teacher most of my life. I can recognize immediately the pupils who attend the Bible classes during the week. They stand out away beyond the others.

On the mission field, I taught a week-day Bible class of school children, now adults. They are upright citizens and the pillars of the church.

Sincerely,
JEAN R. HALL

PTA Group Plans Panel

"How to Conduct a Workshop" will be the subject of the panel discussion for the First District California Congress of Parents and Teachers conference to be held in the San Gabriel High School auditorium Jan. 15, at 9:30 a.m.

CCPT panel members will be Mrs. George Beanston, membership and elementary service chairman; Mrs. M. D. MacMillan, historian, and Mrs. C. H. Culbertson, extension director.

This conference is a "must" for all district and council officers and chairmen and will take the place of the usual spring workshops offered by the district. The object of the conference is to train the participants to conduct their own workshops for newly elected PTA unit officers and chairmen.

Social and Club Activities

SANTA ANITA ESTATE residents, making plans for their annual New Year's Eve party, to be held this year at the Westerner Hotel in Arcadia, are (seated) Mmes. Bert Menne, George Fleming, Leo Horwell, Eugene Bell. Standing are Mrs. Ross Blakely and Mrs. Ralph Riele.

Families, Friends Gather For Yule Dinner, Greetings

Yesterday found many families and good friends gathering for Christmas dinner and an exchange of greetings.

Mrs. Grace R. Vane, 220 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., shared a family dinner in the Ingewood home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vane, and their mother, Mrs. Florence Underwood, and a sister and brother-in-law, the Vernon Steeles. Honored guest was an uncle, William H. Underwood, of Sioux City, Ia., who is spending the winter in El Monte.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Underwood, 770 Canyon Crest, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Dewey, 810 Canyon Crest, enjoyed dinner at the El Monte home of Mr. Underwood's

The Franklin A. Francos, 409 Mountain Trail, and daughter, Kathy, were guests of another daughter and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Clark, in their Hidden Hills, Calabasas, home.

Michael Miller Celebrates Sixth Birthday

Michael Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald V. Miller, 189 N. Hermosa, recently celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary at a Micky Mouse party, with a Christmas "flavor."

The refreshment table was centered by a large heap of gaily wrapped presents, each bearing the name of one of the guests present.

Taking part in the festivities were Frankie Marsh, Lorraine Funston, Patrick Mackel, Mike and Wendy Conover, Mary Frances Duckworth, Linda Pennington, Georgia Zehr, Billy Cossio, and Ronnie Tredwell.

Also, Brad Keifer, Darlene Colbert, Randy Rhodes, Marsha Wilson, Becky Wright, Louise, Bobby, Irene and Tony Raper, Mary Ann Roess and the guest of honor's sister, Donna Louise.

Also present for the occasion were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Val Miller, 144 San Gabriel Ct.; a cousin, Kimmie Price, and an aunt, Mrs. Nita Price, both of Culver City.

The Dewey G. McGearys, 357 N. Auburn, and their daughter, Ernestine, had Christmas dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nettleton of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. William Tallon and Ed Nichols.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Hannaford, 138 W. Montecito, were among the guests at a family dinner hosted by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Hannaford Jr. of Arcadia, and their daughters, Patty and Bonnie.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hume Jr., 241 W. Montecito, and their children, Edward, Christina and Margaret, spent the day on their boat, "Truant," which is moored at California Yacht Anchorage in San Pedro.

The Clifford C. "Pete" Wards, 209 W. Highland, and their children, Peter, Michael, Penny and Patsy, enjoyed a family dinner in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. McCoy, 232 Ramona, and their children, Craig, Lisa and Jamie, were hosts at a family dinner which included Mr. McCoy's parents, the James R. McCoy's, who are visiting from Indianapolis.

A family dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Pangborn and daughter, Daryl Lee, 442 Mariposa.

The Wilbur S. Hulls, 542 W. Montecito, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baugh in Pasadena.

Residents Plan New Year's Eve Buffet and Dance

A number of Santa Anita Estate residents will gather at the Westerner Hotel in Arcadia New Year's Eve for a midnight buffet and dancing to the music of Allan Blond's Trio.

Among those planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rule, Mr. and Mrs. George Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Menne, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hoysell, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Blakely, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baskerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn White, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Karam, Mr. and Mrs. Rosco Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Riggins, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eisenhart, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nebel, Mr. and Mrs. John Crehan, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Narcowich, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winegardner and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heydon.

Miss Zoe Barter

The engagement of Miss Zoe Barter, daughter of Mrs. T. M. Randolph Parker of Sierra Madre, to David I. Gilbert of San Francisco, was announced Christmas Eve by the bride's mother.

Miss Barter's father is Commander Herman Barter, U.S.N. (retired) of Taxco, Mexico. Her maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Woodworth Clum of Beverly Hills and Los Angeles.

Mr. Gilbert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilbert of San Francisco. He is completing his studies at the University of California at Berkeley in nuclear physics.

Miss Barter is a sophomore on the Berkeley campus. The wedding date has not been set.

American Legion Sponsors Dance

Final event on the American Legion calendar will be a New Year's Eve dance Tuesday, Dec. 31, beginning at 9 p.m. at the Legion Hall, 720 N. First, Arcadia.

In charge of the Legion-sponsored event is Charles Dohnstadt, second vice commander. Music to dance the old year out and the New Year in will be provided by the Continentals. Donations are $1.50. Proceeds will be used for various service projects of the Legion.

Christmas Tree National Feature

A new tradition has been established at the William B. Ford home, 59 E. Highland, with a "Living Christmas Tree." The tree was featured in the December issue of "American Home Magazine."

Seven years ago, Mrs. Ford bought a 4-foot potted cedar. Each year the Fords and their grandchildren have watched the tree grow and decorated it with traditional ornaments. The tree is now 7 feet tall and the Fords have nine grandchildren. Mrs. Ford, whose article on the Christmas tree is her first published piece of writing, hopes eventually to transplant the tree to their back yard where, perhaps, some day their great-grandchildren may admire it.

Try This Simple Menu To Start New Year Right

By Toni Maurin
SYcamore 7-9634

Are you planning a New Year's Eve party? They can be fun and a simple menu can also be prepared that will leave the hostess fresh and unfettered by work in the kitchen. A baked ham is always good, and did you know that the butcher will pre-slice a boned ham and tie it for baking?

When it is baked, snip the strings and, behold, your ham is ready to serve. With ham goes this simple dish that is almost guaranteed to make converts of most anti-hominy members of any party.

ly and add one cup cold water and one tsp. vanilla. Turn in greased baking pan and bake at 350°F. for about 40 minutes or until cake springs back when touched.

This batter will be thin, so don't be alarmed. The cake stays moist for days, if it can be kept that long, and is a rich dark color. It is complimented by a white boiled frosting, although I prefer a chocolate butter frosting myself. It is a cake that men particularly enjoy because it is so light.

However, it is too tender to use as a layer cake. Happy New Year and good eating!

HOMINY AU GRATIN

(Serves 8)
Take two No. 2½ cans of hominy and simmer slowly in its own juice for 30 minutes. In the meantime prepare the following sauce:

In the top of a double boiler melt 2 lbs. butter. Blend in 2 lbs. of flour. Add 1½ cups of milk slowly, blending till sauce is smooth and hot.

Then add ½ pound of grated cheese (American or cheddar may be used according to personal preference). Stir till well blended. Season sauce with 1 tsp. Worcestershire, ½ tsp. dry mustard, a dash of tabasco, a few grains cayenne, and salt and pepper to taste.

Drain hominy and put in a casserole or a chafing dish. Pour the sauce over it and stir until all the hominy is well covered. This dish can be heated in the oven for 30 minutes at 350°F. or heated in a chafing dish or electric fry skillet right at the table. It may be dressed up with a few sprigs of parsley and a few well aimed shakes of a paprika can.

With this serve a green salad or a gelatin salad, or both, a few relishes and finish off your meal with hot coffee and this never-fail cake.

Lady Lions Enjoy Christmas Party

The Lady Lions party was held recently at the home of Mrs. Alice Hamm with Mrs. Velma Dickson as her co-hostess.

Plans were made to present clothing to a needy family. Gifts were exchanged among those present.

Those attending were Mmes. Rosemary Abernethy, Louise Barbour, Virginia Butcher, Mary Delgatto, Alice Dellman, Velma Dickson, Barbara Duneagan, Esther Eppard, Alice Hamm, Wilma Johnston, Norma Landwehr, Delores Lotze, Helen Martin, Frances McGinnis, Marilyn Narowich, Margaret Pangborn, Alice Ripple, Myrtis Waite, Alleen Welch and Doris Simone. Guests included Mmes. Carl Peterson and Charlotte Hand.

Adventists Carol in Community

Old-fashioned Christmas caroling is being revised this season by members of 74 Seventh-day Adventist churches in Southern California.

Groups of church members have been organized into "singing bands" and are visiting all sections of town on their Christmas caroling program. They sing favorite Christmas hymns nightly each week from Thanksgiving until Dec. 25.

In connection with the caroling program members of the Adventist Church call attention to the needs of people in underprivileged areas of the world and seek contributions to assist the church in its mission work—aimed at improving the educational, medical and spiritual facilities of people in need.

In charge of the caroling is W. L. Barclay, home missionary and welfare director of all southland Seventh-day Adventist churches.

Installation Rites Held

The Sunday morning service at Faith Lutheran Chapel, 835 Hastings Ranch Drive, will include the installation rite for the 1958 church officers, elected last Nov. 17.

The new officers are Kenneth Bock, elder, to serve with incumbents J. C. Richter and W. A. Schroeder; Edward Plischke, Sierra Madre, president; Kenneth Euker, vice president; Donald Froker, secretary; C. W. Dreher, treasurer; Walter Euker, financial secretary; Leslie Swanson, trustee with incumbents Elmer Zelt and Neal Ladwig; E. Powell and N. Ladwig, new members of the Board of Christian Education; E. Wodrich and J. Ottonen, new members of the Board of Fiscal Affairs, and C. Wodrich, head usher.

The Rev. A. Hesse will speak on "Christmas Reactions" at the 10:30 a.m. service.

Again this year, there will be a service on New Year's Eve at 7:30 p.m. The pastor will speak on "On to the Goal Line," based on Hebrews 6, 1 and 9.

Methodists Plan Fellowship Party

A Fellowship party will be held at the parish house of the Methodist Church from 9 to 11:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 31. Dr. Chilton McPheeters is in charge.

Following the party, to which everyone is invited, there will be a Watchnight Communion Service in the Sanctuary from 11:30 p.m. until midnight.

Reservations for the fellowship party should be made with the church office, EL 5-0629, by Monday, noon, Dec. 30.

Lamplighters to Hold Unique Party

Lamplighters of the Sierra Madre Methodist Church are invited to a "South of the Border" party at the Parish House Saturday, Dec. 28, at 6:30 p.m.

Breaking a pinata will be a highlight of the program which promises to be both festive and gay. Planning the dinner and program are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Porter, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bohart and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Bauer.

SUNDAY SERVICE

"Do Not Limit Your Future" will be the subject of the Sunday worship services, Dec. 29, at 9:15 and 11:00 a.m. by Dr. Ethel Barnhart at the Santa Anita Church of Religious Science, 778 S. Rosemead Blvd., Pasadena.

News of the ChurchesYour Health...*Turkey Can Cause Food Infection if Undercooked

By Roy O. Gilbert, M.D., L.A. County Health Officer

Properly cooked turkey is good any time of the year but its appetite appeal is perhaps greatest during the holiday season. And, although an excellent and nutritious food, turkey may nevertheless be the cause of food infection if insufficiently cooked.

Occasionally, turkeys and other fowls are infected with a food poisoning germ (belonging to the Salmonella group of bacteria) that should be destroyed in the cooking process.

In order to ensure their destruction, however, it is necessary to cook turkey the required length of time at the proper temperature. To lessen either the cooking time or the temperature is a risky business for the diner.

MANY INDIVIDUALS have discovered that turkey, or other poultry, slices thinner and easier when underdone. People who are served such food should refuse it.

Salmonella infection is usually evident in from 7 to 72 hours after eating food contaminated with Salmonella organisms and the illness may last as long as 10 days. Symptoms include severe diarrhea, vomiting, prostration and abdominal pain. The severity of the attack usually depends upon the degree of contamination and the amount of contaminated food that is eaten.

Since frozen turkeys are often improperly thawed before cooking, some food poisonings or spoilage have resulted from their use. Generally speaking, according to experts in food preparation, there is no safer place to thaw a bird than the cold refrigerator. Freezer wrappers should be removed and the turkey covered with loose waxed paper. Two or three days in the refrigerator is needed to thaw out a large bird (14 pounds and over) but 24 hours is usually enough for one that weighs less than that.

DIRECTIONS written on the wrapper of turkeys purchased in markets often give thawing instructions and they should be followed meticulously.

Advice on stuffing the turkey includes the warning not to prepare the stuffing in advance or stuff the turkey until it is ready to put in the oven. After last minute preparation, the stuffing should be packed in loosely to permit expansion during the cooking process.

Leftover turkey will keep longer if the stuffing is removed from the bird and refrigerated in a separate container. Ready-stuffed turkeys are also on the market and are usually accompanied by cooking directions. If no such guide is included, they should be defrosted and cooked according to the rules already given.

Unstuffed turkeys, or stuffed birds at room temperature, require approximately 15 minutes per pound less time. The housewife is reminded to add 3 or 4 pounds to the weight of an eviscerated turkey to get the approximate oven weight of a stuffed bird.

IF THE HOUSEWIFE prefers to cook the turkey in aluminum foil, the oven temperature should be higher. For all weights of foil-wrapped turkey oven heat is maintained at 450°F.

All this sounds complicated but the procedure is just as easy as incorrect methods. And, if turkey is properly prepared and cooked, the pleasure of the Christmas dinner will not be spoiled by the aftermath of a distressing illness.

As long as the supply lasts, a booklet of turkey recipes will be mailed to anyone sending a card of request to the Los Angeles County Health Department, Health Education, 241 N. Figueroa St., Los Angeles 12.

United Lutherans Receive New Organ for Christmas

One of the best Christmas gifts any church can receive has been delivered to the new United Lutheran Church—an organ. It is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bellomini, Arcadia, who rented the new Hammond electric organ for the Christmas and Epiphany seasons for the mission congregation. The gift has enthused the worshippers to contribute to the organ fund.

"If our contributions warrant, we will consider purchasing an organ," said the Rev. Ray E. Hansen, pastor. "There will be no campaign for funds, only voluntary gifts, and these may be sent to the United Lutheran Church, P.O. Box 13, Sierra Madre, or placed in an envelope marked 'organ fund' and given during the church service."

Church to Honor Younger Members At Services

A special homecoming service will be held at the Congregational Church Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. when young people who have come up through the church in recent years will be specially honored.

Preaching at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services will be Richard Draeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Draeger of 78 Esperanza, Sierra Madre. Richard is a sophomore at Stanford University.

Other young people home for the holidays also will participate in these special services which mark the first annual homecoming for the church. The theme will be "New Lamps for Old."

In the evening, the young people will be guests of honor at a banquet which Consenso, the women's service organization of the church, is sponsoring, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Kline, president of the sponsoring group. Dona Mahalovic is chairman of the young people's committee working on the plans.

CANCER CHAIRMEN

New chairmen who will take charge of the service and education programs for District 4 of the American Cancer Society were announced yesterday. Chairmen for District 4, which includes Sierra Madre, are Mrs. H. S. Kimball, Altadena, ACS program; Mrs. R. C. Jack, Pasadena, education program; Dr. R. C. Wood, Pasadena, doctor speaker bureau, and Mrs. Warren H. Dunning III, volunteers.

Attend church regularly.

Next Sunday: "End of Fear"
DO YOU KNOW the things which make for real peace—the kind of peace on earth man is continually seeking, but never quite finding? Well, recognition is one phase of such peace. If we recognize Jesus when He stands before us, when He talks to us, we would not have to hear Him say, "The things which make for peace are hid from our eyes." (Read Luke 19:41-48.) What are these things? LOVE, PATIENCE, GOODNESS, MEKKNESS—so St. Paul tells us. And where can they be found? In Jesus Christ! In our recognition of Him as the Saviour of all mankind we too can receive His gift of peace, for by His grace we are made sons of God and captives of His perfect love, the greatest love the world has ever known. When the world accepts this kind of love, then we shall have real peace!

YOU CAN take a long stride toward finding such peace when you come to church and recognize Christ as the Prince of Peace!

TODAY'S THOUGHT—God tried prophets, miracles and revelations to get through to people, but this was not enough. So then He said, "I'll send the world something they cannot fail to understand, I'll send them the simplest and yet the most wonderful thing in all My creation, I'll send them a Baby..."

Yours Faithfully,
 The Rev. RAY E. HANSEN.

VILLA VIEWS

I feel kind of deflated and crumpled like yesterday's wrappings. It's like taking hours to prepare a fine dinner and then eating it in 20 minutes. I'd be the last one to say that it wasn't worth every hour spent in preparation.

I was awake before the children, listening for the first stirring and the bubbling glee as they sought their own under the tree. Matter of fact, I had to control myself to keep from snubbing like a sentimental old woman at the sight of so much happiness packed in such small people. As the saying goeth, "my cup runneth over."

THE GEORGE Amthors of 3306 Barhite had a big family gathering at their home yesterday. They were joined by Mr. Amthor's parents and brother from Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Amthor, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Amthor.

DR. AND MRS. George Woodruff of 3423 Barhite left before Christmas for a trip up to Red Bluff near Sacramento, to be with Mrs. Woodruff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Ross celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Dec. 23.

THE L. T. GREINERS of 3000 Clarmey Lane were joined by their son, Denny, who returned home from the University of Kansas for the Yule season, and Mrs. Julia Shafer, Mrs. Greiner's mother.

THE DR. PHILIP T. Hoef- fers of 1747 Country Lane had good reason for their happy Christmas. They had their daughter, Mrs. Joanne Brown, with her new baby boy, and their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Hoefler II, and their new baby girl for a big dinner and celebration.

THE J. A. GUTIERREZ came at 3265 Fairpoint was a scene of much holiday activity. Gloria, their daughter, was hostess to the entire Assumption Church Choir and their escorts at a co-op dancing and singing party. On Christmas day they celebrated a typical Mexican Christmas with their family and relatives dropping in all day.

DR. AND MRS. Jack Pas- hall Jr. of 1324 Sierra Madre Villa had 18 around their family table. The guests included Dr. and Mrs. Robert Mueller with Stevo and Melissa, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mueller, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hauser, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Remy and Mrs. Rosa Hauser.

MR. AND MRS. Charles Goldsworthy of 3515 Fairpoint hosted a large group of neighbors at a caroling party Christmas eve and on Christmas day had seven of their relatives in for dinner.

DR. AND MRS. Norman McBride of 3414 Vossburg spent a quiet Christmas with their immediate family. Dede returned home for vacation from the University of Wisconsin. Their other daughter, Kam, who recently returned from Europe, and Butch, their son, were all together for the first time in six months.

DR. AND MRS. Gilbert D. McCann of Villa Heights Road spent their day with the Senior McCanns and the rest of the family in Glendale.

DR. AND MRS. Linus C. Pauling of 3500 Fairpoint had two of their children home for Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Barklay Ray and Mr. and Mrs. Crellin Pauling, as well as a few other guests.

THE HOWARD K. Fors- bergs of 1535 Sierra Madre Villa shunted around between families spending Christmas eve in Covina with Mr. Forsberg's brother and Christmas day in Pasadena with Mrs. Forsberg's mother.

REICHARDS MOVE
Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Reichard, formerly of 585 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., have moved to 3251 Fairpoint, Sierra Madre Villa, Pasadena.

Hastings Teen Times

By Joan Kaponya
ELgin 5-2015

Hi, everybody! Hope all of you had a Merry Christmas. Are you all rested up so you can go to all the After Christmas sales? I'll probably be there spending some of my loot, too.

A MOST unusual and wonderful way of spending Christmas: Barbara Brill and her family take a trip to a different country each year and they celebrate according to the customs of each country they are visiting. Last year they went to the West Indies. This year Barbara is in England. I hope they had an enjoyable "English" Christmas. The lucky gal left a week before school let out and will be back soon after Jan. 1.

MANY TEENAGERS have been and are having fun at Christmas parties. Last week, for example, Karen Forsberg had a slumber party. All the kids had a ball. For snacks they had soft drinks, pretzels, peanuts, candy and the usual party stuff. They finally got to bed at 4:30 a.m.—yes, that's right. They arose—probably a few hours later—and had doughnuts, rolls, milk and coffee for breakfast. Among the guests were Cynthia Ellet, Barbara Captain, Nancy Evans, Judy Davis, Carol Emery, Mary Jane McArthur and Barbara McWilliams.

TO GET into the real Christmas spirit the Jobs Daughters, Bethel 128, went caroling at the Huntington Hospital to give cheer to some patients. After caroling, the girls had refreshments and exchanged gifts.

SALLY DAISEY had a caroling party last Friday night. And what a beautiful night it was, too. The girls went caroling in the Hastings-Riviera sections and sure did a swell job of it. They were nice enough to stop at our house, too. Sure did help to get us in the Christmas spirit—especially since we were trimming our tree at the time they came. Heard nice comments from neighbors, too, girls. Included among those who spread cheer with their caroling were Sharon Knickrehm, Mary Dean Bower, Anne Zawistowski, Sheryl Weber, Pat Art, Karen Kean, Penny King, De Anne Clark, Joyce Waldman and Kathy Stewart.

LAST MONDAY night, Kella Pratt, a former Ranch teenager, had a Christmas party in her new Westwood home. Some of her friends from the Ranch attending were Chris Dinwiddie, Dick Sanner, Carla Taylor, Russell Bucola, Sally Keller, Tom Artman, Marcella Baer, Rich Chapman, Judy Mortensen and Jeff Palmer.

THE BIG Y-Teen Dance was held last Friday night. The theme chosen was "The Snow Flake Fantasy." Preparations for this dance were planned by Ingrid Magnuson, 10th grade Y-Teen pres-

By Pat Smith
EL. 5-1903

Hi, everyone! Are you still filled to the brim with turkey and all the extras that go with a wonderful Christmas?

Now that the presents are opened and put neatly in their places, it is time to prepare for New Year's festivities. Many will be living it up New Year's Eve at some wild party; some will stay at home and go to bed early so as to be fresh for the Rose Parade New Year's Day; some will be spending the evening baby sitting. No matter what you have planned for New Year's Eve, I am sure everyone will attend the Rose Parade. It's such fun and so beautiful that people from all over the country come to see it. I myself, would be ashamed to say that I lived in Pasadena and did not attend the Rose Parade.

MANY CHRISTMAS parties were given the past couple of weeks. Linda Dittberner and Nancy Grant gave two. A great time was had by all attending. Sheila Donnell decided she would surprise everyone by getting them out of bed for a surprise breakfast party. It surely was a surprise and a shock to everyone who saw you.

POSTER PARTIES are another common event this vacation. Elections are coming near and as a result, posters are being made and speeches are being composed. The nominating assembly this time will consist only of speeches. The reason is the skits are a lot of work, not only for the individual candidates, but for everybody who works on them. Christmas vacation fell later and the assembly early, therefore not enough time was left to produce an elaborate program.

IF YOU have any news please call me and let me know. I will see that it gets in. Thank you very much and have a very Happy New Year.

ident, and her committee. Guests of 10th graders were the 9th grade Y-Teens. Each girl brought her own date. Refreshments consisted of punch and cookies. The kids had a great ball, and many of them were from Sierra Madre, Hastings and Riviera. And now I'd like to wish all of you a very Happy New Year! Don't forget those resolutions, now!

AEC FELLOWSHIPS

The California Institute of Technology has recently been named by the Atomic Energy Commission as a participating school in its program of special fellowships in nuclear science and engineering. The announcement is the result of a graduate program in nuclear engineering which has been initiated by the Division of Engineering at the Institute.

Debbie Dumas Celebrates 6th Birthday

Debbie Dumas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Dumas, 1210 Rexford, celebrated her sixth birthday anniversary at an afternoon party.

Highlight of the occasion was when the guest of honor presented the "Jingle Bell Dance," in a Santa's Helper's costume, while her daddy recorded all the guests singing "Jingle Bells."

Among those in attendance were Cinda Galpin, Debbie Lee Oles, Marilyn Graper, Billy and Johnny Lawson, Cathy Conley, Joanie Donald, Shelley Duquette, Henry Read and the guest of honor's brothers, Randy and Don.

Pack 379 Graduates 3 Webelos

Three boys received Webelos awards and were graduated into Boy Scouts at the December meeting of Eugene Field Cub Scout Pack 379. The boys were Tim Marshall, Stanley Smith and Edward Hawkins.

A number of other awards were presented as follows: Wolf awards—Carter Ray, Wolf badge; Scott Cummins, Wolf badge, gold and silver arrows; Greg Dorfmeier and Bruce Burdick, two silver arrows; Roger Cannon, Jeff Anderson, Richard Jensen and Jimmy Allison, silver arrows.

Bear awards—Jeffrey Aardahl, gold arrow; Bryan Dupuy, Bear badge and gold arrow; Gary Gillett, Bear badge, gold and silver arrows.

Three-year pins were awarded to Tim Marshall, Stanley Smith and Edward Hawkins.

Scott Cummins received Denner Stripes, and Roger Cannon and Jimmy Allison, Assistant Denner Stripes.

R. A. Jacobsons Have Open House

The Robert A. Jacobsons, 1225 Tropical, were hosts last Friday night at an open house.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. George A. Schlueter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Babick, Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Donald, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Shiner, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Templar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Meason, Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Leffingwell Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Walters.

HOLIDAY VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fahey of Bridgeport, Conn., arrived last Sunday for a month's visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Fahey, 1215 Coronet, and their three children.

Trinity Guild Gives Musicales at Ruddocks

One of the most beautiful events of this holiday season was the musical tea given in the Women's Guild of Trinity Presbyterian Church at the spacious Arbolada Drive home of the Billings Ruddocks.

The Ruddock home was beautifully decorated from the Christmas tree on the front door, to the huge tree in the two-story-high family room, which boasted a collection of ornaments saved from year to year, some treasured since childhood.

Mrs. Ahlert T. Sturman, pianist, was in charge of the music and accompanied other musicians who entertained.

Mrs. Waldo Greiner, soprano with the San Marino Presbyterian Church, sang a group of American Christmas folk songs and a selection from "The Messiah."

Mrs. Clark Bridgman, flutist, formerly with the Chicago Women's Symphony Orchestra, played contemporary holiday selections.

The Rev. Donald Ostrander, pastor of Trinity Presbyterian Church, told the "Christmas Story."

Chairman of the event was Mrs. Peter H. Hurtig, with Mrs. Lou Jennings and Mrs. William Pursley assisting.

Tea was served at the conclusion of the musical portion of the afternoon. Mrs. J. Howard Stoner is president of the Guild.

Local Brownies, Scouts Enjoy Yule Activities

Don Benito third grade Brownie Troop 22 was recently entertained at a cookout by sixth grade Girl Scout Troop 323, as a requirement on the Backyard Camper Badge, at 1069 Hastings Ranch Dr.

The Christmas theme was carried out in table decorations, favors and name tags.

Also, each girl made a Christmas tree decoration to take home. Entertainment included games, songs and a Christmas play.

Brownie guests were Carole Andersen, Gloria Barclay, Vicki Bell, Sharon Burke, Karen Bradford, Sheila Horn, Libby Johnston, Linda Larsen, Marcy Manning, Randy Newhouse, Heidi Olson, Linda Taylor and Louise Yerkes, under the leadership of Mrs. Le Roy Andersen.

Girl Scouts planning the affair were Tinnie Barnes, Patricia Burke, Carol Cairncross, Patsy Carley, Bonnie Ewen, Pamela Farnworth.

Gilbs Will Host Garden Club Party

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilb, 3500 Landfair, will play host to the Hastings Ranch Garden Club at a Christmas party Saturday night.

Guests will assemble at the Gilbs' gaily decorated home at 7 p.m. for cocktails. A prime rib dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m. and dancing and games will follow.

Assisting Mrs. Gilb with arrangements are Mrs. Paul Hart and Mrs. Leonard Cowan.

L.A. Water Shortage Mounts With Each Fire

CALTECH LECTURE
"Geologic Aspects of Engineering Disasters in Southern California" is the title of this week's Friday Evening Demonstration Lecture at the California Institute of Technology. The lecture will be given by Dr. Richard F. Jahns at 7:30 p.m. in room 201, Bridge Hall of Physics.

Water is so valuable a commodity that more than $244,500,000 has been spent to build aqueducts to insure Los Angeles County of a constant supply. Although it has the world's most extensive aqueducts, the Los Angeles system brings only 470,000 acre feet of water into the area yearly, less than half of that currently required, according to Robert T. Radford, chairman of Los Angeles County Watershed Commission.

The 630,000 acre feet of water from the underground supply used annually are replaced by rainfall at a rate estimated at less than 400,000 acre feet. Thus half again as much water is being withdrawn each year as is being replaced.

CHAPARRAL, the highly flammable vegetation that forests the mountainous areas is a prime factor in replacing the underground water. Its roots make the soil porous to rainfall, slow the runoff speed, and hold the soil on steep slopes firmly in place. Torrential rains sometimes bring as much as half of the annual 10 to 20 inches of water within a span of several hours, according to statistics gathered at the San Dimas Experimental Forestry Station.

This causes devastating floods of mud, rock and debris-laden waters. Destruction of the chaparral by fire increases flood danger. According to statistics, 28 times as much erosion occurs on a burned-off mountainside as one covered with natural growth.

THE FLOOD problem becomes increasingly serious with the population increase in the foothill regions. Los Angeles County and federal agencies spent $1,082,970 on fire prevention and suppression in 1956 in local woodlands. Another $353,700,000 has been spent to construct a comprehensive flood control program.

In spite of great strides made in controlling fires, the number of acres burned each year is alarming. The number of man-caused fires is on the increase.

Proper Care of Plants Requires Rules Observance

Proper care of plants received at Christmastime is one of the best ways to say "thank you." Although the rules for care of most plants are simple, the California Association of Nurserymen cautions that they must be observed.

AFRICAN VIOLETS require abundant diffused light with as little direct sunlight as possible. Temperatures at about 60-70° F., watering from below and occasional application of a slightly acid fertilizer.

FLORIST'S CYCLAMEN should be watered from below while indoors. Planted in the shade outdoors after the holidays, cyclamen will give almost continual bloom for several years. This type of cyclamen prefers slightly acid soil, so leaf mold should be added to transplanting soil. During the more or less dormant period from June to August or September, cyclamen should be kept slightly on the dry side, but the rest of the year they need moist soil for the prettiest blooms.

AZALEAS need air, moisture, light and warmth while inside the house. These lovely shrubs may be planted outdoors in moist, fertile soil (mostly peat moss and leaf mold) as soon as possible after the holidays. When outdoors, azaleas need the same items as listed above; air, moisture, light and warmth.

CAMELLIAS received in bloom at Christmastime may be kept indoors for a short time and may be left in the original containers for an even longer time. While they are in containers, the soil must be kept moist. Camellias must not be crowded in their containers so transplanting should be undertaken as soon as they show signs of outgrowing the cans. Nurserymen will be glad to recommend planting procedures for camellias. They especially need good drainage as they were originally hillside plants.

FOLIAGE PLANTS are usually similar to plants which were grown in the shade in jungle type climates. The normal house temperature of about 60-70° F. is just about right for them. In addition, they require light (not direct sunlight) and moist soil. If the plants were professionally potted they should need no additional fertilization until they outgrow their original planters.

Some people follow the mistaken practice of putting their indoor plants outdoors when they seem to be failing. This is highly dangerous, as the shocking change of conditions only compounds whatever difficulty plants have been suffering. Transplant shock which can occur when plants are taken from indoors and put directly in the ground can be minimized by selecting warm, sunny days and early afternoon as planting times.

Differing Opinions Make The World Go Around

By Charles Ayres

Pondering the ways of the world the other day while taking the cure necessitated by too much Yuletide spirit(s), I made a great discovery—it's not love that makes the world go 'round, but difference of opinion.

But for this difference everyone would be alike and it only takes a little honest self-reflection to see how awful that would be. This thing would operate even to eliminate men's and we could all end up slopping bortsch.

There could be some good derived if this difference didn't exist. For example there would be no more sports cars and kids and delinquent adults would no longer have drag races.

ON THE other hand O'Malley wouldn't be in a quandary and the local schools wouldn't have gotten pucked at the northern brothers. Since all contests are played with a disbelief of who can do what to whom, there wouldn't be any cause to stage them if we all knew ahead of time. Could you imagine a world without referendums and Harvey Knox?

There's only one place this truth seems to have failed and that's in the New Year's Day Rose Bowl Game. To date there has been no expressed doubt as to what's going to happen and no apparent confusion about how bad. That is until now.

I'm not convinced at all that Ohio State is going to murder poor old Oregon or even that they are going to beat them at all.

THE GAME contract calls for the same number of players on both sides at all times and if Oregon can keep enough of those lumberjacks in the lineup why should anybody beat them? We don't have the usual condition working this time where the western representative is too close to the scene to work up much enthusiasm. If it's true that the Midwest boys get paid better you can discount that, too. There has to be some compensation for living back there.

In arriving at this truth it was also recognized that love was based on a difference. To this I can only join the French in exclaiming, "Viva la difference!"

Christmas Party Fetes Small Fry

Santa brought Christmas magic last Saturday morning for children of Shakespear Club Juniors in Stratford House.

After talking with the small fry, Santa introduced Jerrie Baker, "The Magic Lady," who worked Christmas magic at the annual Christmas party sponsored by the Sports Section, under the direction of Mrs. Daniel H. Rogers.

Santa's little helpers were Susan Newlin, daughter of Mrs. Stanley A. Newlin Jr., president, and Carol Cushman, daughter of Mrs. Robert G. Cushman.

CASH IN ON 4 to earn more!

ATLAS FEDERAL SAVERS by the thousands are cashing in on our traditional policy of paying more on savings—currently at the liberal rate of 4% per year, with 4 earnings payments each year. A new record high in dividends will be distributed to account holders as of Tuesday, December 31, 1957.

And just as important to the thrifty people who will share in this dividend is the knowledge that the safety of their funds is backed by insurance to $10,000, reserves in excess of Federal requirements, and sound local management.

Why not join these savers—place your savings at Atlas Federal where the service is friendly, the parking is free, and safety is insured.

Savings received through January 10th earn from January 1st.

SELECT EASY DISHES
FOR BUSY DAY MENU

When shopping or some other urgent affair, compare prices. If you eat your usual schedule, you'll need easy-to-make dishes for the family supper. A hearty main dish that's simple to make and serve is a fine selection. Add a salad of crisp head lettuce topped with a favorite dressing and a quick hot dessert. Your busy-day menu will be as tasty as any that take far more time and attention.

BAKED BEAN SPECIAL
4 Tbsp. salad oil
1/2 green pepper, chopped
2 large onions, sliced
2 #2 cans red kidney beans
1 C. drained canned tomatoes
2 Tbsp. brown sugar
1/2 tsp. salt

Heat oil in a skillet and saute green pepper and onions until tender but not browned. Drain most of the liquid from the beans. Arrange beans, tomatoes and sauteed vegetables in layers in an oiled casserole dividing salt and brown sugar between layers. Bake, covered at 350° for 45 min. Uncover and bake 10 min. longer.

SPANISH DELIGHT
4-oz. pkg. noodles
2 Tbsp. fat
1 lb. lean ground beef
1 onion, chopped
1/2 green pepper, chopped
1 can whole kernel corn
1 tamale, sliced
1 lb. nippy cheese, grated
1 can tomato sauce

Seasonings
Cook noodles until almost tender in boiling salted water. Drain. Heat fat in a skillet and brown meat. Push meat to one side, add onion and green pepper and brown lightly. Mix in corn and seasonings to taste. Arrange layers of noodles, meat mixture, sliced tamale and cheese in an oiled casserole. Pour tomato sauce over mixture. Cover. Bake for 30 to 40 min. at 350°.

KIDNEY BEAN "RABBIT"
2 1/2 C. grated American cheese
3/4 C. evaporated milk
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
2 1/4 C. drained, canned kidney beans

6 slices bread
3 tomatoes
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
Combine cheese, milk, 3/4 tsp. salt and mustard in top section of double boiler. Heat over boiling water, stirring frequently, until cheese melts and mixture is smooth. Add beans and heat for serving. Put bread on boiler pan and toast lightly on both sides. Slice tomatoes and arrange on toast. Season with salt and pepper and broil until tomatoes are heated. Serve at once, topped with cheese mixture.

HASTY ORANGE PUDDING
2 C. hot water
1 Tbsp. butter
1 Tbsp. grated orange rind
3 oranges, peeled and thinly sliced

Cook all together for 10 min. Pour into casserole. Drop batter by spoonfuls into hot sauce. Bake at 400° for 25 min. Serve hot.

BATTER FOR PUDDING
1 C. sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 C. sugar
1 Tbsp. butter

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Blend sugar and butter. Stir in milk. Add dry ingredients and stir until mixed.
